“Cindy, George and Family, Having worked side by side with Al for many years, I am going to miss him. No one could tell a story like he could. He was also known for pulling pranks on other employees, but was best known for the "Miss Ellie Phant" prank he pulled on Ron. He enjoyed doing the cook outs for us--another reason to go fishing; although it really did not take much of a reason for him to go fishing or hunting. Every year, I would make him peanut brittle, almost burnt, just like his Mom use to make. It was my pleasure to do so. He had told me once that he hoped the legacy he could leave to his grandsons was it is okay to have fun and cause a little mischief once in awhile. Then, he laughed. I know these last several months have been a real struggle for Al and his family, but he is finally at peace. You were great caregivers and very dedicated to making him comfortable and happy. Will be thinking of you. Dawn Brinker”

“Al was a good man with a huge heart. Have a knife he let me have, have never used it for fear of loosing it. He always told me to carry it, said it was made to use, but now I never will. I'm sorry for your loss, it's all our loss, even here in Mississippi. May God comfort this family!”
