“ I recently found out about Amanda’s passing. I did not know her very well or for very long. But about 10 years ago I worked closely with her on a large, important product line her company agreed to transfer to the company I represented in order to manufacture for them.

By the time I met Amanda and began this work with her, I had approximately 30 years of similar experience.

From that experience I would like Amanda’s family to know she was one of the very best and professional Purchasing professionals I ever worked with.

Fair but tough. Serious but with a sense of humor. Dedicated to her company and her work but never losing sight of the partnership approach required to get our project done well.

I wish I had experienced more Amanda Clarks in my career.
