Lee, we're seeing this the day after you've celebrated Barb's life. We tell the wonderful story of going out with you and Barb on our first date, of laughing and loving and marrying five months later. How sad we haven't seen you two in so many years. We're grateful for a shared life at Second, for wisdom along the way. We wish you peace as you say goodbye and find a different rhythm. We both send much love.

“ What a joy it was to know Barb, who was truly a wise woman. We shared cups of coffee, laughter, and lifestories at MacDonaldis with Barb and Lee. Barb lost her mother as a young child and faced other serious life challenges, but it did not stop her from becoming the impressive and loving person that she was. She said, “You take it as it comes.” I have thought of her words many times since. Facing life with such faith and determination is an example to us all. I believe she will “rise on eagle’s wings”

“ We worked with Lee for many years, we traveled with Lee & Barb while we were working, our favorite trips were to the Grand Tetons, Yellowstone, Las Vegas, and 2 times to Cancun. We also retired, (the first year) with our RV's and traveled to Texas, Arizona (went to a beautiful Easter sunrise service at the Grand Canyon) and many other places. We then went to the Rio Grande Valley of Texas for the winter and stayed in the same campground, we did that for many years. We also worked with Habitat for Humanity traveling with our RV's to many places. We have so many great memories! Rest in Peace, Barb - until we meet again. We love you, Erk & Linda South
