“Beth was my best friend in elementary and middle school. We shared boyfriend secrets and played with Barbie dolls far into the age of embarrassment. We had sleep overs and laughed at Monty Python records. We were awesome study partners. In my memory you are always young, filled with laughter, teenage angst and pleasure over boys -- your first kiss. We went our separate ways, I moved to Canada with my family and didn't look back, this time you move to heaven and don't look back. Until we meet again.”
