“Julie, condolences aren't enough, so I offer you knowledge. My knowledge of Jack's final months is that he was comforted by your love for him. And those final months of love are only more special because they were preceded by years of commitment and adoration. Jack was a wonderful friend and I am forever grateful for the endless devotion and care you showed him EVERY SINGLE DAY without asking for anything in return. The love you shared was selfless and rare, and I know-because he told me- how much he appreciated your loyalty because he had never experienced it before. He will be missed, but we will be here to honor him and you.”

“Julie,
There isn't a single thing we could say to ease your pain, but please know you are in our thoughts. It was a comfort to see you and Jack surrounded by your girls and the grandchildren during the last few months, and our prayers are with them, as well. Even though we never met Stefanie, our condolences also go to her.”

“Julie, My thoughts and prayers are with you and your daughters at this time. I saw you everyday at the hospital with Jack and saw how much you two cared about each other. You are the strongest woman that I've ever met and I could see how much it meant to Jack to have you by his side during his illness. He will be by yours everyday.”

“I only knew Jack for a couple of years, but it doesn't take long to know if someone is a good man. I met Jack & Julie when Jenny brought me home to meet her parents. Before I met him I didn't stress to much because my wife told me he was a bud fan, loved sports, & that he was laid back. These are all good qualities when meeting one of your future father in laws. Jack made me feel welcome in his home, and a part of the family. Like I said, I may have known Jack for only a few years but I witnessed many inspiring qualities, hardworking, kindness, caring, committed, and that he had strong beliefs that he did not waiver from. This is how I will remember Jack.”
