“ I am thankful to God for my grandmother's life. The cherished moments we had together. Her faith, strength, and determination kept her strong in Christ. I recall several times when she would quote, "The righteous person may have many troubles, but the LORD delivers him from them all; he protects all his bones, not one of them will be broken." Psalm 34:19-20

“ I extend my heartfelt condolences to my family, both near and far. In loving memory of my beautiful grandmother, Lydia Longoria, who will be deeply missed—a strong woman of unwavering faith. I will always cherish the time she invested in me, from childhood through adulthood, mentoring me and offering wisdom on marriage and family. She loved to fellowship and share testimonies of God’s goodness and faithfulness—a constant in her life that I greatly admired. No matter the circumstance, she always gave glory to God. One of my sweetest memories is of her lovingly making dolls and sundresses for my oldest daughter when she was young, just as she had once made sundresses for me when I was little. Even from my infancy, she poured her love into creating something special with her own hands. Her legacy of faith, hope, and love will live on through our family for generations to come. With deepest and most sincere love, Ruthy Villanueva.

“ Una bendicion de tener a mi abuelita cerca, y que pudiera conocer a mis hijos. Los momentos de visita, escuchar los mini-sermones, reir, jugar el juego de "los listones". La mas precioso es que nos veremos otra vez :)

“ My abuelita never let me live down the time i tried to buy her a cup of coffee but my card declined. For 30+ years i was the “mi nieto que me queria comprarme un cafecito pero pobrecito no paso su tarjeta y yo tuvo que comprarlo” as she giggled telling the story as if it were the first time, every time. I know this is a time of mourning for my dad, his siblings and extended family but I hope this memory will bring a little joy. Her decision to follow Christ is why our family is a generation of prayer warriors, pastors and disciples. We are in part her legacy, and while she will be greatly missed “For me, to live is christ, and to die is gain.”
