“ Maxson was such a funny kid like I remember this one time Maxson tryed fitting himself into the trombone lockers at school or this other time where maxson tryed fitting into the tuba locker in the band and maxson would say the most random things in the hallway and it would get every laughing. We all Miss maxson . Coming back from lunch felt different he would also make the hallways full of laughter at lunch and after. We miss you maxson. sending prayers to your family

I remember many weekends, over a couple summers, spent up at the campground.

Lots of the kids were still glued to their phone/tablet, but not Maxson.

Homar wouldn't have it anyway.

Maxson's parents made sure he would experience life and nature to the fullest.

Maxson was always riding his bike, motorcycle, at the pond, around the campfire, etc

His time was cut short, but he experienced life in a way most kids of this generation will never experience.

We will miss you Maxson.
