“ To Shari's Family and Friends,
May the peace that passes all understanding be with you..we know the only true and wonderful peace that comes from God is what Shari is enjoying today.Having been raised in the same childhood church as Shari we learned as children that to enjoy heaven someday we could not only believe in Jesus Christ as many do but need to have a personal relationship with him.This is gained by believing he died for our sins and will forgive us if we ask him to. Praying for the family that they will be comforted by all the prayers.Much love to Barb, Shirley and Marty.from Rachel Koert

“ I am so sorry to hear this horrifying news about Sheri. It makes me so sad and sick that it had to come to this. Sheri was a very friendly and out going person. Most of the time she was really bubbly, but did run into some rough spots in the last couple of years. I really cared and liked sheri alot. when I would come in to the place she worked, which is right across the street from where I live I sometimes would have daily conversations with her seeings how i am in there every day. I am so sad that she will not be there anymore to brighten my day. Sheri will be missed dearly and I will never forget about Sheri and all the brightness she brought to my life. I will be praying and thiking of all the children, siblings, extended family and all those that worked with her. God Bless.
