“ I met Wilma in PSI some 30 years ago. She became my mentor and friend. I learned a lot from Wilma on how to write reports, check for mistakes, and etc. She was always there for me or whoever was in need. She served our Chapter of Professional Secretaries with great pride. I learned a great deal from you Wilma, I know sometimes you didn't think I did. You did our Chapter proud and I know you loved your job so much. You will be greatly missed by all of us who knew you. I will see you again some day. God Bless.

“ As I recall she started working at Duncan Electric while still in high school at Jeff. She typed, produced, distributed, and filed Engineering documents. She could easily locate documents produced many years earlier. She kept us in line. She would clean and clean and clean the glass tops of the copy machines prior to copying her Professional Secretary (name changed later?) documents. Not a speck or smudge was allowed. I spent several late nights working on her computer at her house. She liked her Word Perfect.If I, and the Lord, are willing I may exceed her years of service during the next two years.Everyday she comes into our lives by the usage of the many pieces of Tupperware she sold us. She loved her family as evidence by the many hours of talking about your families and activities. She was a wonderful Christian lady. We appreciate your caring for you Aunt. May God's blessings continually flow upon your families.P.S She taught me the gift of extended communication! And I pray she extends grace to me for the errors I have made in this Guest Book!

“ I worked for Duncan/(Landis & Gyr) as a young electrical engineer and for the next 39 years, I appreciated her attitude, her willingness to help us anyway she could, especially with writing memos, reports, etc. My wife and I always tried to give her some of the apples that we got every fall from our brother-in-law's orchard. She wanted to pay for them and it was a challenge to get her to accept them without paying for them. She was a good LADY, an excellant engineering secretary, and strong believer. GOD BLESS her family.

“ Wilma was a great inspiration to most of us young people in IAAP. She wasn't afraid to tell you when something wasn't quite right. May some uncomfortable but I admired her straight forward attitude. She will be missed by many but never forgotten.

“ Wilma was a very respected professional. She expected everyone to work to their best ability and set an excellent example for the rest of us. She continued to learn new skills through out her career. Engineers are not noted for their writing skills. Wilma helped them make important reports grammatically correct and readable. I consider it a privilege to have known and worked with her.

“ Wilma and I met through Tupperware. She made the best candy and always loved to do her microwave candy demonstrations for our team. We visited a lot outside of "business" too. She was such a thoughtful person, taking the time to come have lunch when my youngest son was born so she could meet him! My kids loved to visit always ending with a visit to the pig cookie jar! Rest in peace special lady.
